

ONE CENT—LAST EDITION—ONE CENT

MANDEL'S MAY BREAK BACKBONE OF OPPOSITION TO AUTO TRUCK FENDERS

THE DAY BOOK

*An Adless Newspaper, Daily*Except Sunday*

VOL. 5, NO. 93

Chicago, Monday, January 17, 1916

398

DAILY NEWS AD LEADS TO POLICE RAID

Police Official Suspicious of "Position for Woman" Ad.
—Has It Answered—Would Have Been a Fine
Trap for Young Girl.

Another proof that Daily News want ads are fine tools in crooked hands is contained in a story that broke in the morals court today.

Captain Meagher looked through the Daily News ads one day last week as he sat in his station at 2138 N. California av. He noticed one that didn't look quite right to him.

This ad called for a housekeeper. An easy job was open with good wages, it said. Applicants could call "Albany 4336."

Meagher told Policewoman Anna Schumann to call the number and answer the ad and she did. She was told to come to 3876 W. Grand av. for work.

At this address was a saloon, and Miss Schumann applied to the flat above. She was given such an enthusiastic welcome that she grew suspicious of the place from the start.

She chatted with the men and women in the flat and answered their questions readily. After some time,